Mysuru, Aug. 17 (MTY&BS)- Forest Department is all set to crack a whip on the miscreants who have been spoiling the sanctity of Chamundi Hill, the most prominent hub of religious tourism in the State, by imposing fine from Sept. 1, 2023.

A dedicated Task Force will be deployed to implement the measures by penalising the offenders.

This follows the recent order of National Green Tribunal (NGT) State Committee Chairman Justice Subhash B. Adi during his meeting in the city on July 14, 2023, to make Chamundi Hill totally plastic-free by Dasara and also the back to back drives and meetings conducted by Chamundi Hill Gram Panchayat along with several other associations and NGOs, at the initiation of Deputy Commissioner Dr. K. V. Rajendra to leave no stone unturned to achieve the purpose.

Chamundi Hill that comes under the green zone of the city falls under the ambit of Reserve Forest.

Though efforts were made earlier also to make the hill plastic-free, the plastic menace had continued with the surge in number of devotees and tourists to the hill, thus threatening the Eco-Sensitive Zone (ESZ) of the Hill. In this wake, Forest Department has taken a step to rein in the offenders under Sections 76 and 99(1) of Karnataka Forest Act 1963 and Karnataka Forest Rules 1969.

Assailant repeatedly asks for son, then asks for water, barges in and attacks couple

Mysuru, Aug. 17 (RK&KS)- Two strangers, a man and a woman, knocked on the doors of a jeweller's house in city under the pretext of giving an invitation for the house-warming ceremony yesterday.

Incidentally, the two strangers also made a bid to attack the jeweller with a knife, resulting in injuries to both the jeweller and his wife who came to his help.

The incident occurred yesterday afternoon at the residence of the jeweller, identified as Babulal, a 57-year-old resident of KHB Layout in Hootagalli. The injured Babulal and his wife Kamalabai, aged 52, were treated as outpatients at a private hospital.

Victims Babulal and Kamalabai

Around 12.30 pm, a man and a woman came to Babulal's residence. When Babulal opened the door, the man claimed that he wanted to deliver a house-warming invitation to his son Harish. He then requested Babulal to call his son.

When Babulal informed that his son Harish was not at home, the man barged inside and handed Babulal an empty bottle, asking him to fill it with water.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

IT IS AN INTERESTING THOUGHT: The newspaper you hold now in your hands is read because of the thoughts and views that it contains. But what would happen if it had blown away and landed in the hut of an illiterate individual who had no acquaintance at all with the alphabet? The person would perhaps have looked at the squiggles and ink marks on it with interest and then gone on to use it as a wrapper or looked upon it as something to wipe his hands on.

In other words, the marks and words are but a shadow of the real meaning and the deeper intentions. The paper exists, of course, but the ideas it contains have gone missing.

This is a paradigm of the way things are in our lives. We look at the paper and the ink of our lives — the eating, the working and the sleeping — and believe that this is Life.

The important fact that there is meaning within our lives eludes us completely.

What, then, is the meaning or purpose of Life? Is it a personal mission statement that we decide for ourselves? Is it a life-long quest? How do we find it, if at all we can?

In Rousseau's words, 'To live is not merely to breathe; it is to act. It is to make use of our organs, senses and faculties — of all those parts of ourselves that give us the feeling of existence.'

Each of us is blessed with certain talents because the world we live in needs our individual involvement. Each of us has the responsibility of contributing to the lives around us. It is our shared talents that collectively smooth the long road of Life.

Our talents also help us define who we are. They underline the fact that we count and that we are needed. No one is without capability and this includes the disabled.

Whether it is an ability to love, to write or to paint, or a talent for settling disputes, we are required to make a contribution.

By recognising this purpose, we reach beyond the surface meaning of Life. This is the beginning of the search for a greater and deeper meaning, so that positive and respectful action becomes habitual. It is a life-long quest, but one that brings happiness and peace of mind.

Boy scolded by mother goes to Police

Chongqing: After arguing with his mother about overdue homework, a 10-year-old boy in China ran away from home and straight to the local police station to complain and beg to be put into an orphanage.

Local media recently reported a bizarre incident that took place in Chongqing. CCTV footage shows a boy storming into the Police Station in Yubei and being approached by two Policemen. They start chatting and the boy tells them that he had been reprimanded by his mother for not completing his homework, so he left the family home to join an orphanage. After a bit of convincing, the boy gave them his parents' contact information, so the Police contacted his mother who confirmed their argument about the overdue homework.

After calming the boy down, the Police called his father to pick him up, and even though he was reluctant to return home, they manged to persuade him that it was the right choice.

Bathroom dubbed as the most beautiful

Shanghai: The world's most beautiful public bathroom, designed by X+Living, a Shanghai-based architecture firm, the bathroom on the sixth floor of the Deji Plaza shopping mall in Nanjing, China makes you feel like you accidentally walked into a whimsical palace. That's not usually the feeling you get from most public bathrooms... It starts out with a long corridor lined with plants coming out of the walls. This part of the bathroom was designed as "an immersive walk-through-a-garden experience", but it's hard to focus on the green decor with dozens of giant lamps shining on you from above, and with the light reflecting on the glossy floor.

Set the Expressway speed limits based on road design

Sir,

The recent press reports about the Safety Committee's establishment to address safety concerns on Mysuru - Bengaluru Expressway have sparked discussions about potential measures to improve road safety.

One of the proposed solutions (now enforced from Aug. 1) is to ban two-wheelers and three-wheelers from using the Expressway. However, it's essential to understand that accidents on the Expressway are mostly caused by cars and larger vehicles losing control due to various factors.

As a Highway engineer with knowledge of road design and traffic engineering, I believe that the key to enhancing safety lies in implementing speed reduction measures, particularly around curves. Abroad, Highways often have stretches with speed limits below the design speed for curves.

By adopting this approach on our Expressway, we can significantly reduce the chances of accidents caused by high-speed manoeuvres on curved sections.

The focus should not be on imposing a constant 100 kmph maximum speed limit throughout the Expressway. Instead, we should be strategic in setting speed limits based on the road design and potential accident-prone areas. Lowering the speed limit by about 10 kmph below the design speed for curves can make a significant difference in preventing accidents.

Regarding the Police road show and safety awareness parades, while they may have their place in creating awareness, they should not be seen as the ultimate solution to road safety. To make a real impact, law enforcement needs to be proactive and consistent in enforcing road rules and regulations. Culprits responsible for dangerous driving should be caught and punished regardless of their affiliations or social status.

It is crucial for elected representatives and influential individuals in society to refrain from interfering with the course of law and justice. Allowing the law to function independently and without bias is essential for ensuring a fair and just system that upholds road safety for everyone.

Chamundi Hill visitors behave!

It has been an unabated practice among the tourists and local residents visiting the Hill to dispose off eatables, food packets, water bottles among several other articles according to their whims and fancies, along with smoking beedi and cigarette. There was also a rise in complaints related to trespassing into Chamundi Hill Reserve Forest to consume liquor, which all prompted the Forest authorities to take stringent measures to check any illegal activities.

The copies of above decision of Forest Department is also dispatched to Conservator of Forests, Mysuru Circle, City Police Commissioner, ZP CEO, Commissioners of Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) and Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA), Executive Officer of Mysuru Taluk Panchayat, Executive Officer of Chamundeshwari Temple and Panchayat Development Officer (PDO) of Chamundi Hill Gram Panchayat.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, DCF (Mysuru Division) Dr. K. N. Basavaraj said, "The public should co-operate with the decision of Forest Department to penalise the offenders. The decision has been taken to conserve the environment at the Hill as it has become a practice among devotees and tourists to litter waste that are considered hazardous to the nature and also trespass into forest and indulge in illegal activities."

Truth about T.S. Satyan

*This is the tribute K.B. Ganapathy wrote for T.S. Satyan in his Abracadabra column published in two parts on Dec. 27 and 28, 2009.—Ed

When a person is long associated with you in some way or other either in your profession or as a friend and then says adieu forever, it is like finding yourself, though temporarily, in a vacuum. That was how I felt at the funeral of T.S. Satyan, the city's pride as a photo-journalist and also as a social activist in his own right, on 13th December, 2009 — speechless and heavy in heart.

I indeed miss him more so because this is the season of Christmas and New Year. Whenever he was here during this season, we used to celebrate the occasion. He with his chota peg and I with my patiala peg usually at the Club.

On other occasions, if we have not met for long, he would call me and speak in a mixture of Kannada and English saying that he didn't have a drink with me for long and if it was possible to meet. Hearing him speak thus in his most amiable, intimate manner, one should think that Satyan is a big boozer. No. It was only an excuse for him to start a conversation or meet a person like me.

Probably his profession has taught him the art of not only taking candid pictures but also the art of conversation with different types of people. If what I have mentioned above was his gambit while talking to me on telephone or in person, his opening words would be different when he spoke to my son or a saint. No doubt I have found Satyan as a go-getter without being obtrusive and without appearing to impose himself on others, in pursuing what he wants to get.

He used to be restless, even agitated as he went about composing his pictures with a creative genius. He always planned his assignments and projects. Be it of taking photograph or holding an exhibition or writing articles and books, he would have planned everything in advance and meticulously. He was as facile with his pen as he was creative with his camera. His forte was black and white, where the cameraman must have a perfect sense of not only light and shade but also timing, in technical jargon known as aperture and shutter speed.

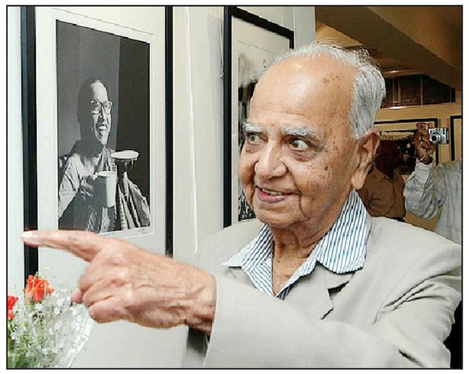
Indeed Satyan had all this and more, the sixth sense, and therefore, it is no surprise that he rose to such sublime heights in this art and craft of taking photograph. He was never tired of telling me that taking photographs in colour is no challenge at all when compared to taking photographs in black and white and that too with the kind of cameras that were available in the early days of his career.

He came to Mysore sometime in 1989 after getting his house in Saraswathipuram constructed and since then, Satyan has always been close not only to me and my family, but also to Star of Mysore and a large number of its Editorial staff. Occasionally he used to send us pictures and articles. Being a meticulous person, he would himself read the proof and also work on the layout of the page in which his article and pictures appeared. Though we pay honorarium to contributors, he gently told me that he was writing to Star of Mysore only for love and not for money.

I remember going to Bylakuppe with Satyan to take photographs of Dalai Lama who was camping there for a few days. With camera in hand, Satyan and myself scouted for a vantage point to take the photograph of Dalai Lama, who was already in the middle of his discourse to a very large congregation. Finally we selected a spot which was ideal for taking the photograph from a distance without the aid of flash.

Satyan, like a shikar on a perch with his gun, was waiting holding his camera patiently for the Dalai Lama to turn towards Satyan for the 'shot'. Somehow Dalai Lama continued to deliver his discourse looking towards the congregation to his right, while Satyan was waiting at a spot to the Dalai Lama's left. Probably out of sheer desperation or out of years of experience in attracting attention of his human subjects, Satyan shouted loudly, 'Your Holiness, Your Holiness,' which drowned the feeble voice of Dalai Lama who instinctively turned to his left from where the call came. Instantaneously Satyan went on clicking and the job was done. That was Satyan in his elements.

Though born to a Brahmin family, he did not allow himself to be bound by the caste, tradition and rituals. In fact, his mother Rajammal and father, a medical doctor by profession, Dr. Subramanya



Iyer, had long broken the barrier of caste and creed that our society was steeped in. It was a huge family with 15 children living under one roof in Mysore city. Growing with so many siblings Satyan must have learnt the importance of managing life under all circumstances and dealing with all kinds of people.

A few days after Satyan's last hurrah, a meeting was held at Maneyangala in Kalamandira to condole his death. Among the speakers was a senior scientist from CFTRI, now retired, Dr. Javaraiah Nanjundaiah, a Dalit by birth. What he spoke on that day was a great revelation about the concern and compassion of Satyan's parents as also his siblings towards Dalits.

Dr. Javaraiah Nanjundaiah, while studying in Hardwicke High School, was staying at the Dalit Hostel in Jayanagar. One Brahmin youngster T.S. Ramachandran, brother of T.S. Satyan used to visit the hostel to give tuition. As such, Ramachandran was aware of the poor condition of the hostel where the quality of food served was bad and on many occasions not served at all. As a result, some of the students had to starve. Seeing the predicament of Dr. Javaraiah Nanjundaiah, Ramachandran arranged for food and shelter in his house with the permission of his parents, which was granted without reservation.

Everyday food was served to Nanjundaiah along with other children of the family. While serving, Satyan's mother Rajammal would ensure Nanjundaiah was not made to feel ignored or despised being a free-boarder and a Dalit. If there was shortage of curds, Rajammal would make sure Nanjundaiah got his curds while her own children were served with buttermilk.

Later when Nanjundaiah got a job in CFTRI, Satyan was in Delhi and used to visit Mysore occasionally. In spite of many years of separation, as was Satyan's nature, he showed concern for Nanjundaiah and offered any help that he needed in Delhi.

Such an opportunity came Nanjundaiah's way twice in his life. Once in 1968, when he had been to Chandigarh to participate in a sports event where he was injured. He telephoned Satyan in Delhi, who asked him to come to Delhi for treatment. At Delhi, Satyan immediately consulted a doctor and purchased all the medicines. Nanjundaiah stayed with Satyan for two days like a member of the family. Thereafter, Satyan himself took Nanjundaiah to the Railway Station, put him on a train, telephoned his brother Ramachandran in Mysore to arrange for Nanjundaiah's treatment upon his arrival. The good brother Ramachandran on his part personally went to the Railway Station in his scooter and took Nanjundaiah to his house in Ashokapuram.

There is another more interesting episode when in 1981, Dr. Nanjundaiah was deputed for a training in Russia. Nanjundaiah had his apprehensions of travelling for the first time by aeroplane. So he telephoned Satyan in Delhi. Satyan asked him to take the plane from Bangalore and come to Delhi, take a taxi and go to his Pandara Road residence. That night he sat with Satyan, his wife Ratnamma (Ratna), son Ravi and daughter Kalpana and had a nice meal and a long chat. Satyan went through the papers relating to Nanjundaiah's training in Russia. They also discussed about the ways of purchasing the air ticket.

Next day, Satyan took Nanjundaiah on his scooter to Aeroflot office only to be told that ticket was not available and it appeared, it wouldn't be available for another week and Nanjundaiah would miss the programme. But Satyan was not the one to take such things lying down. He had his own sutra to get the ticket. He called Prime Minister's Press Secretary H.Y. Sharada Prasad, who was his friend and got a ticket from the Prime Minister's quota in the next available flight. Nanjundaiah said he was surprised to find an air-conditioned Ambassador car parked before Satyan's residence, in which Satyan, his wife Ratna and children along with Nanjundaiah went to the Airport in the night to bid him bon voyage.

A greater surprise awaited Nanjundaiah when he landed at the Moscow airport. As he was walking towards the exit gate, a lady wearing jeans pants, holding a cigarette in one hand and a placard in the other reading 'Javaraiah Nanjundaiah,' was seen calling out the name 'Javaraiah' aloud. As he walked towards the lady, he was warmly welcomed and escorted to a star hotel.

Nanjundaiah told the audience at Maneyangala that he was overwhelmed to hear his poor, dalit father's name being uttered aloud by a white lady on the Russian soil. He felt fulfilled. How could this happen?

It seems, Satyan after returning from the airport, contacted the agency that had organised his travel and asked them to help Nanjundaiah with transport to the hotel. This kind of trait, helping nature, in Satyan could be seen till his end.

Satyan's full name is Tambrahalli Subramanya Satyanarayana Iyer. That is the Truth. It was at the instance of the renowned English novelist R.K. Narayan, also a resident of Mysore, this T.S. Satyanarayana Iyer shortened his name as T.S. Satyan, just as R.K. Narayan did with his own long meandering name. Could it be that just as the shortened name brought name, fame and money to R.K. Narayan, the shortened name too must have brought luck to Satyan?

Having known Satyan for many years now, I may not be wrong if I say Satyan was the man of courage without swagger, a man of talent without arrogance and always carried his camera and also his pen with a sense of fierce concern for ordinary people. It is therefore not surprising that his book of photographs, a coffee-table book, is titled, 'In Love with Life.'

Satyan never took his profession lightly. Therein lies his success. He seems to have taken the word of Henry Ford rather seriously. Talking about success in business, Ford had remarked, "Don't take your business lightly, because it will cost you dearly." In a way, Satyan is man's gift to God because it is said, "What one is born as, is God's gift to man; but what one becomes, is man's gift to God."

Incidentally, as I was writing this column, a friend of mine sent me a coffee-table book titled Best of Mysore providing information on what to see, where to stay, eat, shop, enjoy and a pictorial of 'Living Legends' with a brief write-up. Among the 33 Living Legends in the book, T.S. Satyan is also one. Alas, now that Satyan is no more with us, ironically he has ceased to be a Living Legend but will remain in our memory as a Legend that he was and will be.

Well, weighed in totality of Satyan's contribution to journalism, photography and the community at large, it is appropriate to quote Shakespeare's immortal lines as a tribute to Satyan, which is also the Truth:

"His life was gentle; and the elements
So mixed in him that
Nature might stand up
And say to all the world,
This was a man!"

Indeed not just a man, Satyan was A Gentleman from Mysore, as he himself liked to be known.

TAILPIECE: After reading yesterday's report in SOM about T.S. Satyan, my friend K. Vijaykumar, former Jt. Director of Information & Publicity, Government of Karnataka, sent a message recalling his encounter with Satyan.

Vijaykumar had asked Satyan to give photos to SOM also and Satyan's reaction was, "What do you think SOM is Washington Post?"

He also told Vijaykumar that Kodavas are generally very well-mannered and both KBG and Vikram had become his dear ones.

Lokayukta raids officials in 48 locations across State

Houses of Kodagu Additional DC, Harangi Superintending Engineer searched in Madikeri and Mysuru

Mysuru / Madikeri, Aug. 17 (RK, PS & BCT)- Many senior Government officials were jolted from their slumber this morning as the Karnataka Lokayukta orchestrated synchronised raids across 48 locations throughout the State. These actions were prompted by intelligence suggesting the undue amassing of assets by officials.

The raids spanned cities including Mysuru, Madikeri, Bengaluru, Belagavi, Bidar, Dharwad, Tumakuru, Raichur, Davangere, and Chitradurga, in response to allegations of corruption against these officials. A sizable team of around 200 Lokayukta personnel has been actively participating in these searches since early morning.

Under the supervision of Lokayukta SP Suresh Babu, investigators approached the official residence of Kodagu Additional Deputy Commissioner Nanjundegowda as early as 4 am. Led by Dy.SP Pawan Kumar and assisted by 3 Lokayukta Inspectors, the 10-member team entered the premises near Field Marshal Cariappa Circle.

The searches resulted in the initial discovery of Rs. 11 lakh in cash, as well as gold and silver ornaments, alongside documents related to unreported wealth and properties. Officials informed Star of Mysore that the search would span the entire day, with the full extent of seizures to be disclosed only in the evening.

Searches were also conducted at properties belonging to Nanjundegowda's close relatives in Mysuru, leading to the recovery of incriminating documents. Nanjundegowda has been in service within Kodagu district since 2015 and he assumed the role of Additional DC on Feb. 21, 2022. Prior to this, he held the position of Tahsildar of Periyapatna. A search operation was also conducted at the Tahsildar's residence in Periyapatna today.

During the investigation at the residence of Harangi Superintending Engineer K.K. Raghupathi, Lokayukta officials were taken aback by the substantial wealth allegedly amassed by the Officer. Noteworthy findings include an opulent villa in Vijayanagar 4th Stage, Mysuru, in addition to gold and silver items valued at several lakhs of rupees, as well as high-end designer bags.

The officials are currently in the process of appraising the value of the assets at both Raghupathi's official and personal residences.

Raghupathi resided in an assigned quarters in Madikeri and multiple locations within Mysuru city, suspected of holding properties, were also subjected to simultaneous raids. In the interim, Lokayukta investigators are awaiting the assessment of goldsmiths to ascertain the value of the gold and silver articles retrieved from the residences. Concurrently, they are meticulously sifting through piles of files in their pursuit of uncovering instances of corruption.

Cash, gold and silver ornaments recovered from the official residence of Kodagu Additional Dy. Commissioner Nanjundegowda in Madikeri this morning.

The house owned by Harangi Superintending Engineer K.K. Raghupathi in Vijayanagar 4th Stage, Mysuru, that was raided this morning.

Attempt to stab jeweller on the pretext of giving invitation

Taking the empty bottle Kamalabai went inside to fill it with water. During this time, the man allegedly sprayed a chemical on Babulal and proceeded to attack him with a knife, injuring Babulal's hand. On hearing screams, Babulal's wife rushed to her husband's help, but was overpowered by the man, who immobilised her and caused her injuries due to his tight grip.

Meanwhile, Babulal rushed outside and alerted his neighbours. However, by that time, the woman who had accompanied the assailant had already fled the scene. As bystanders gathered, the stranger also fled. A youth tried in vain to nab the fleeing miscreant.

Inspector Ravishankar and his team from the Vijayanagar Police Station arrived at the scene to gather information from Babulal and his wife. The couple informed the Police that they were unfamiliar with the identities of the man and the woman, though the duo had frequently enquired about their son Harish. Subsequently, upon revealing that Harish was not at home, the man suddenly pulled out a knife and inflicted injuries.

Babulal had not opened his jewellery store yesterday as it was Amavasya. He was at his home located merely three buildings away from the shop. His son Harish had been visiting his wife's place in Tumakuru and returned in the evening after being informed of the incident.

It is said that the stranger had come with a knife and a fake invitation, with the intention to harm Harish. As Harish was not present, the man directed his aggression towards Babulal and his wife. Babulal's swift action to alert his neighbours prevented a potentially harmful incident from escalating further.

Vijayanagar Police have registered an attempt to murder case and looking for clues. Due to the absence of CCTV cameras at the house, the Police are reviewing the footage from nearby CCTV cameras to gather additional information.

Muthiah Muralitharan starts soft drink factory in Ch'nagar

Celebrated Sri Lankan off-spinner to invest Rs. 400 crore; KIADB allots 46.30-acre land

Chamarajanagar, Aug. 17 (SS&BCT)- Sri Lanka's cricket icon and celebrated off-spinner Muthiah Muralitharan is embarking on a fresh journey as an entrepreneur in the industrial sector. Transitioning from his legendary cricket career, Muralitharan is now venturing into the business realm by establishing a soft drink manufacturing facility in Chamarajanagar — Muthiah Beverage and Confectionery Private Limited.

Known for his skills on the cricket field, Muralitharan's new endeavour is poised to make a noteworthy impact on the local industrial landscape. His soft drink factory will be located in the Badanaguppe-Kellambally Industrial Zone of Chamarajanagar, spanning an extensive 46-acre area.

Muralitharan

With all necessary Government formalities completed, construction of the factory has commenced. Operating under the name Muthiah Beverages, the brand will be responsible for producing a range of soft drinks, refreshing beverages and flavoured milk in convenient cans. It also will produce chocolates. The production of these non-alcoholic beverages will contribute to Chamarajanagar's growth, fostering a renewed phase of development for the region.

A substantial investment exceeding Rs. 250 crore (up to Rs. 400 crore) has been allocated for this ambitious project, signifying a significant financial commitment to the local community. Notably, this initiative is anticipated to create employment opportunities for 500-800 local residents, while also indirectly benefiting numerous others through the factory's operations.

To provide local employment

The establishment of this factory holds the potential to elevate Chamarajanagar as a hub for industry and innovation, complemented by concurrent projects such as the eco-friendly paint factory being constructed by the Birla Group. Muralitharan bought the land six months ago from the Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board (KIADB).

Interestingly, Muralitharan's transition to the industrial sector follows a trend of cricket luminaries diversifying their interests in Karnataka. Former Indian cricketer and the present President of the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI), Roger Binny, has ventured into agriculture by acquiring land in Gundlupet.

Factory sources said that the construction of the Muthiah Beverages unit will be completed in nine months. According to Deputy Director of District Industries Centre, Muthiah Beverages will change the face of the industrial scene in Chamarajanagar and will provide employment to local population.

Muralitharan's expansion into industrial entrepreneurship is facilitated through collaboration with Ceylon Beverage Can (Pvt.) Ltd., from Sri Lanka in the realm of soft drink production. The Karnataka Government has granted a lease for the expansive 46.30-acre tract of land, showcasing the recognition of Muralitharan's cricketing excellence. Muralitharan's unparalleled cricketing achievements, including an astounding record of 800 wickets in 133 Test matches, underscore his remarkable contributions to the sport. As he embarks on this business journey, his venture holds the promise of not only economic growth but also the diversification and progress of Chamarajanagar.

WORD OF THE DAY

Contiguous

Pronunciation: kun-TIG-yuh-wus.
Meaning: Contiguous is a formal word used to describe things that touch each other or are immediately next to each other in time or sequence.
Origin: Time to get a little closer with contiguous, a word likely most familiar in the phrase "contiguous United States." Otherwise known as the conterminous United States, this region comprises the collective states within the U.S. that connect geographically by shared borders, as well as the nation's capital. Looking for a word to describe freestanding states like Hawaii and Alaska, or seabound territories along the lines of Guam and American Samoa? Today's word has a direct antonym: noncontiguous. Both come from the Latin verb contingere, meaning "to be in contact with."
Example: "The City of Milwaukee defines Havenwoods as a small rectangle on the northwest side surrounding the state forest. Its northern and eastern borders are contiguous with the forest and it is bounded by 60th Street and Silver Spring Drive on the south and west." —Daphne Chen, The Milwaukee Journal Sentinel, 9 May 2023

THE ODD WORD

Calamus

Quill or reed used as a pen.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Glass ceiling

Meaning: The term 'Glass ceiling' is often used in a situation when a woman or someone from a minority group has had a hard time climbing up the professional ladder and seems to have plateaued professionally below their actual potential.
Origin: This term was first heard in 1978 when Marilyn Loden (an American author) mentioned this in a speech she gave. Hillary Clinton recently made it very popular again when she used this term after she lost the political election in 2016.
Example: "She was not able to break through the glass ceiling; despite her qualifications, she was not promoted to the executive level position."
